The History of Richmond Banks

Published in The "Times-Dispatch" last Sunday, was very interesting, and thanks are due to the gentleman for his unselfish services in so carefully compiling the various items.

Out of ten banks in this city in 1890 there are but four now doing business without having made some change. The Savings Bank was then an infant, having started the previous year, and the exhibit of its progress is most gratifying.

JUDGE FULTON INDORSED.

Wise County Democrats Would Like to See Him on Supreme Court Bench.
Norton, Va., August 30.—In a mass-meeting held here to-day of Wise County Democrats to elect delegates to the legislative convention, which meets at Wise on September 20, resolutions were introduced and adopted strongly urging Judge E. M. Fulton for a place on the Supreme Court bench of Virginia, which will become vacant by the resignation of Judge John A. Buchanan. Judge Fulton is a lawyer of conspicuous ability, and he has many friends in this part of the State who hope to see him elevated to the Supreme Court judgeship.
Resolutions were also adopted in the same mass-meeting to-day highly commending the record of John W. Chalkley in the Virginia House of Delegates, and urging his renomination for a second term.
